EVENT DESCRIPTION

The first discussion and presentation in the series “Universal Value of Mathematics” will focus on the topics of Self-Awareness and Self Assessment, both within and outside of academics.

The event will open with a 10 minute presentation from Lesley Scott, following which an open group discussion will be held for all interested participants.

BACKGROUND

The discussion series as a whole is aimed at providing thought provoking topics for a group discussion in which new insights can be gleaned into mathematics, human nature and the world surrounding the two.

We therefore invite and encourage all interested parties to join us in this journey to understand.
